Nuestra País, the Theme

You are now about to take a most unusual excursion through Nuestra País, our country, better known in other circles as Ardsley High School. During this tour we will give you a chance to become familiar with all the aspects of our make-believe nation. After being introduced to our "High Society" (or the Seniors) and our "Proletariat" (the underclassmen), you might like to see what our "Big Business" includes besides attending concerts performed by our first-rate musicians or perhaps observing our youth in action. You will be ushered into breathtaking sports events, which are our "National Pastimes"; then be sure to inspect our "Natural Resources" before you leave our realm.

Whatever your particular interests may be, you are assured of having a gay time with pleasant weather and friendly companions. We greatly appreciate the marvelous aid that our advisers, sponsors, and patrons have given us in order to have the pleasure and honor of entertaining you. Have a "fantabulous" trip!

The class of 1958 elects...

MISS CORNELIA PATTESON

...the citizen of the year.

The Junior class is pleased to dedicate this 1957 Ardsleyan to Miss Cornelia Patteson, an admired and respected business teacher and a friend to all.

The students in the commercial department appreciate the personal interest Miss Patteson takes in each of them. The members of the Commercial Club are extremely grateful to her, as their adviser, for helping to extend their knowledge of up-to-date office procedures and equipment in order that they may become "tops" as our secretaries of the future. As a homeroom teacher of the seniors, Miss Patteson is a guiding light to them in their final year of high school.

To show our gratitude for the many hours you have devoted to us in the commercial subjects as well as being Business Adviser of the Ardsleyan, we, the class of '58, dedicate this yearbook to you, Miss Patteson.

The Roll of Honor...

DELL CLARKE

Ever-smiling, jubilant, and friendly, Dell was a happy-go-lucky boy. A born leader, being president of his class was just one of his countless accomplishments.

Included in his treasure chest of favorite things were all kinds of sports. His eager participation on the Little League baseball team and his delight in early morning fishing trips portrayed him as the average American youth he was. The building of complicated boat models, one of his greatest joys, helped to fill many happy moments.

Noted for his spontaneous friendliness, Dell Clarke will hold an honored spot in our hearts forever.

...to Those in Memoriam

BARBARA O'LEARY

A loyal friend, honest, sincere, and just in her ways, Barbara O'Leary was a person who could be depended upon. She was always there when one needed her—willing to help in any way. She was very cheerful herself and enjoyed being with people.

Barbara also showed extraordinary enthusiasm in all her undertakings. She was good in her studies and excelled as typing editor of the Ardsleyan and as a member of the Third Degree of the Honor Society.

Barbara dearly loved all kinds of sports. She participated in the Girls' Athletic Association and belonged to the Sports Club. For two years she was on the cheerleading squad, and even after graduating she skied, swam, and played tennis.

All those who knew her loved her very much, and therefore she has won a cherished place in their hearts forever.

Intimate Glimpses...

TOUR 1

Our trip was off with a bang when we were welcomed by the applause at our first high school assembly. But soon the clouds gathered as we were thrown into the showers for G.A.A. initiation. Our cake sales provided the necessary but wonderful food to complete the first mile of our tour.

TOUR 2

The next mile, our Sophomore year, was packed full of excitement. Besides studying that intriguing science, biology, we learned at Croton Point the principles of living together harmoniously. Another feature attraction was selling candy at the basketball games when we fed the famished crowds at our P.X.

TOUR 3

In our Junior year we stopped to publish the Ardsleyan, the yearbook of our high school. The many side trips included the excitement of Columbia Scholastic Press Association meetings, the anxiety of approaching prospective advertisers, and the mapping-out of routes for book sales. The crowning glory of this adventure was the sight of our finished masterpiece with its impressive white and black cover.

TOUR 4

As souvenirs for our last long mile, we bought our senior rings. Yet this part of the journey passed all too quickly; as we rehearsed for our play, "Onions in the Stew," we realized the proceeds would be used on our pleasure jaunt to Washington. Our destination was not far away now, for Regents time approached, and finally dressed in our caps and gowns, we took the last steps of our tour.

Mrs. E. Koenig and Miss C. Patteson are our advisers, and Mrs. Anglin, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Carlyle, and Mrs. Gardiner are the class mothers.

...Onions in the Stew

No great country, including Nuestra País, would ever be complete without its theaters, actors, and actresses. The electricians, make-up artists, scene painters, prompters, and stage crew, play an equally important part, although they are seldom glamorized. Without the latter, everything would lack depth and reality, so necessary for enjoyment.

Therefore, on your trip through our country, include as a part of your itinerary some of the scenes and scenery of this year's SENIOR PLAY, "Onions in the Stew," which is a delightfully different three-act comedy, exhibiting the problems of a couple moving to an old house on a rather un-populated island and portraying the hardships which ensue for their two teenage daughters as a result of their being shut off from "society." Of course, various other complications arise such as dinner guests who are often still with them days later. In the midst of the humorous difficulties and despair, the family finds a special value in the life they are creating—one they wouldn't trade for anything in the world.

The working class...

Mrs. Catherine Felter and Miss Dorothy M. Pelda, Teachers—"Bring the camera!" "Think of a theme!" "Get that ad!" These were very familiar words to the members of the Board of Editors of the Ardsleyan and to the JUNIOR CLASS as a whole. All year long, the group faithfully dedicated themselves to what they hoped would be the best yearbook ever. Our officers are Pres. Flo Sheldon, Vice-Pres. Herb Weinman, Sec. Mrs. Robert Bell and Mr. Leslie Gibian, Teachers—With a reluctant sigh, the SOPHOMORES sadly left Biology Camp at Croton Point. The walks to the clay pits, seeing the famous Charter Oak, and the remembrance of the last campfire out on the point are fond memories. Our P.X. at basketball games was another memorable event. Mr. Clarence Felter and Mr. Frank Kluge, Teachers—Oh! Woe be it to the FRESHMEN. Their strongest desire is for time to fly until they become upperclassmen also. The initial hurdle they have to pass is entering the auditorium bravely amid the cheering for them at their first assembly. After this initiation into high school, they find it's a good feeling getting used to being on their own.

From the first mad rush of the ad-campaign which kept Willis and Lloyd constantly on the run, hoping and towards the end, praying that more people might realize what excellent advertising the ARDSLEYAN gives, or maybe even take an ad out of good-will, or just so we would stop annoying them, all the way up till the final book was sent to press, the twelve members of the BOARD OF EDITORS of the 1957 ARDSLEYAN were grateful for being chosen to represent Ardsley High School and realized what a privilege it was to be able to widen their horizons in such a project as this.

Many were the moans which came from Merry, Muriel, and Sherry as they pondered over the layout and made measurements exact to 1/16 of an inch. There were few nights when Mary Jane wasn't pounding away on her typewriter and when Flo wasn't up sketching and resketching the art work. Herb must have done quite a lot of smooth talking to accomplish what he did during the circulation campaign. Rich cheerfully dashed around doing the ad dummy, stray layout and cropping pictures while Kendree tried frantically to scrounge around for a few scraps of pertinent information or perhaps to do a forgotten interview. Theresa had quite a task herself balancing such big accounts and likewise did Diane, checking pictures for all grades and activities.

The editors would like to thank all the ambitious students who weren't on the Board and yet were always around to help whenever something was needed. When the call went out for transportation to get ads, John Whelan, without hesitation, would whisk his car down to the school for our use. Suzie Ozern also aided in this way, as well as by being a one-girl committee for filling our "Natural Resources" section. Another helping hand, Joyce Hashagen, labored over some lingering layout and actually seemed to enjoy the work. There were two members of the typing committee, who we feel did such a nice job that it would have been unfair to flip a coin to choose between them. Therefore, the honors go to both Patricia Robinson and Joyce Medovich.

We wish to thank Miss Pelda, our adviser; Mr. Chestnut, Mr. Felter, Mr. Koors, Mr. Hartman, and Miss Patteson, for giving so unselfishly of their time and efforts to aid in making our book a success.

The THIRD DEGREE is officially the executive body of the Honor Society. Composed of thirteen students, the THIRD DEGREE plays an integral part in Ardsley's tradition. It is responsible for the initiation of members into the first, second, and third degree. This Christmas, festive decorations were arranged in the high school halls in a successful attempt to spread Yuletide cheer. The Memorial Park was further completed by the THIRD DEGREE with the adding of concrete and with the placing of John Hackett's plaque. President is Barbara Gardiner; vice-president, Duncan Clarke; secretary, Margaret Mestern; and treasurer, Dave Mooney. Miss H. Robbie is adviser.

Weekly meetings of the COLLEGE CLUB were held at the homes of the various seniors in order to explore the advantages and disadvantages of many different colleges and universities. Ardsley High School alumni, who are now enrolled at college, provided first-hand information to the group. Tests were taken to help the club members see what their interests were and what careers might result. President is Jeffrey Berlind; vice-president, Edward Bramble, and secretary, Carol Lotus. Mr. Koors is adviser.

The STUDENT COUNCIL takes quite a prominent place in the career of our school. The monitor system, which was begun by the council last year in order to limit hall congestion, was continued this year and proved itself very effective even though the number of students increased greatly. Student elections; the Merry Munch, a girl-ask-boy dance; holiday socials and then the big event of the year, the Senior Prom, were some of the various programs offered. President is Lynn Egy; vice-president, Walter Klores; treasurer, Jeffrey Berlind and secretary, Ruth Mooney. The adviser is Mr. Frank Kluge.

Twice a month the members of the YEARBOOK CLUB, who may be Ardsleyan editors and committee members in their junior year, meet to learn terms such as "bleed" and "montage" used in the printing and photographic fields. They also learn how to prepare and lay-out the dummy on graph paper, how to crop pictures proportionately, how to use the printer's slide-rule, and how to finance their yearbook. The club consists of sophomores who are interested in comparing yearbooks from various schools for novel ideas; sometimes the Ardsleyan is exchanged for yearbooks from neighboring schools. President is Patricia Witham; secretary, Patricia Reynaud, and Miss Dorothy Pelda, adviser.

ORCHESTRA

Music masters...

The ORCHESTRA members, composed of some of Ardsley's most elite musicians, are offered valuable opportunities to gain experience by their performances for the Parent-Teachers' Association, assembly programs, the Spring Concert, and senior graduation. Advanced players are rewarded for continued regular practice by being chosen for participation in either the All-State or All-County Orchestra or both. Mr. Mitchell C. Vincent is the director.

With Miss Haymond as adviser, the BAND became a gala and integral part of the Ardsley community this year. Performing for the groundbreaking ceremony of the new school and for the two outdoor memorial services, as well as at the annual Memorial Day parade, was among the highlights of the music year. The officers are President Edward Aim, Vice-President Kipp Hassell, Secretary Sherry Hassell, Treasurer George Norton, Librarian Bruce Cook, and Reporters Dottie Kight and Judy Osterberg.

To the music student who has been accepted in the CLEF CLUB, there is formed a rewarding memory, coveted forever. Its members create the rules of conduct and marking for each musical organization as well as the planning of the concerts. Mr. Vincent is the adviser.

In the first semester the VARSITY CHOIR was a mixed group, boys and girls. The delightful opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," was put on by this group with tremendous success. In the second semester, it was changed to a girls' chorus which helped present the Spring Concert and various other musical programs. Our officers are President Margaret Mestern, Vice-President Merry Baker, Secretary Sherry Hassell, and Mr. Vincent is adviser.

The thirty-five members of the JOURNALISM CLUB, composed of freshmen, meet once a week for instruction on forms for sentences, headlines, and columns. The officers are President Virginia Rosler and Vice-President Jo Anne Riccio.

Great literature...

The SALT 'N' PEPPER CLUB is composed of a group of students, each having his own special job. About every six weeks they edit a publication containing editorials, sports columns, jokes, interviews, and general town talk. This periodical is known to everyone as the SALT 'N' PEPPER, whose name is, of course, derived from the club. Editor-in-Chief is Walter Klores; typing editor, Marjorie Jetter; art editor, Joyce Medovich. Mr. Koors is adviser.

With the aid of Mr. Chestnut, the adviser, the ART CLUB became an active organization, developing culture and style as well as the creative talents of its members. The lower hall bulletin board was decorated with fine examples of all types of projects and drawings.

"Would you believe it? I made this all by myself." These words reflected the satisfaction of the participants of the SEWING CLUB, sponsored by Mrs. Howes. With a few yards of material, many different patterns, and sewing machines, this club finished many lovely articles in a professional style.

The main objective of the 1957 SPANISH CLUB is to give its members a chance to become more familiar with the Spanish language and customs. Much of the meeting time was spent in conversation as the students practiced typical phrases, idioms and sentences. Then, of course, there was the traditional Christmas party, when the "pinata" was finally broken after many unsuccessful attempts. The officers are President Sherry Hassell and Secretary Herb Weinman. Señorita Robbie is adviser.

COMMERCIAL CLUB—M. Jetter, T. Cappetta, M. Larsen, J. Medovich, M. J. Flanigan.

The COMMERCIAL CLUB is composed of twenty students interested in secretarial work. Our officers are: President Evelyn Kreymborg; Vice-President Marjorie Jetter; Secretary Dorothy Anglin and Treasurer Elneta Calhoun. School news reporter is Mary Jane Flanigan. Louise DeNardo takes care of the refreshment committee. The year started off with an exciting trip to New York to the National Business Show, which was held in the new Coliseum. We also visited Sonotone, Geigy, and Reader's Digest during the year, and we had a picnic to wind up our activities.

The Masque and Triangle dramatics group was organized in September. THE DRAMATICS CLUB visited New York and saw "No Time for Sergeants," an hilarious Broadway comedy. In spite of our difficulty in finding a time and an opportunity to meet, by having occasional evening rehearsals the group managed to put on "No! No! No!" a skit much enjoyed in January by the high school assembly. Frank Schappach is president; Linda DeSola, vice-president; Susan Ozern, secretary; Penny Rose, treasurer, and Mrs. E. Koenig, adviser.

Sports activities...

Planning all G.A.A. activities, enforcing rules, scheduling when the teams are to play, and officiating at all games, are just a few of the jobs bestowed on a member of SPORTS CLUB. This year sweatshirts, whose emblem was designed by Ingrid Carlson, a club member, were sold to raise money. Also, the sale of soda and candy at G.A.A. games paid for a trip in early June. The officers are Pres. M. Christiano; Sec. B. Murau, and Treas. M. Mestern. Miss G. Roll is adviser.

Although the GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION is a completely voluntary organization, G.A.A. captures a higher percentage of girls than any other club. Through the year, it seems that as soon as a member is becoming skillful at a particular sport, such as volleyball, basketball, badminton or softball, she is ready to try a new one.

The Girls' Athletic Association has proven to be excellent training, as it gives everyone a chance to develop a more versatile character through team-play and good-sportsmanship. This year the president is Nancy Noschese and secretary, Mary Jane Flanigan. Miss Grace Roll is the adviser.

The members of the VARSITY CLUB officiate at inter-class and intra-mural competition. Meetings are held once a month by Coach Jackman, adviser. Their main responsibility includes setting leadership in all interscholastic activities and promoting interest in them. Each year they sponsor an amusing basketball game between the Intramural All-Stars and the faculty. Officers are Pres. Chet Slaybaugh, Vice-Pres. Dave Mooney, and Sec.-Treas. Rich Mooney.

The 1957 VARSITY BASKETBALL team deserves a plaque of solid gold for the sportsmanship and playing ability which they displayed this season. After having achieved the title of co-champions in the Western Westchester League, with an unsurpassable record of 19 wins and only one loss, the team, coached by Mr. Michael Jackman, went all the way to capture the coveted Class "C" Championship. Ken McComb was chosen the most valuable player as well as having the honor of being on the All-County New York team and the Westchester Macy Team. Jack McPartland and Dave Mooney each won awards as the most improved players, and Chet Slaybaugh won the Con-Edison award in December. Dave Mooney and Ken McComb are co-captains; Glenn Koors and Brent Smith, co-managers.

This year the CHEERLEADERS really had something to crow about. All decked out in new blue jumpers and gold-striped blouses, our girls expertly exhibited the school colors at all sports games which warranted their presence.

CHEERLEADERS—D. Guckenbiehl, D. Anglin, D. Scola, P. Carlyle, B. Gardiner. Absent: A. Bliss, V. Rosler.

The JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL team rightly merited the unofficial title of champions of the Junior League with an insuperable record of ten wins and no losses. These boys displayed the admirable qualities of co-operativeness, unselfishness, and willingness which inevitably were the reasons for their success. A delectable victory supper was enjoyed by all at Coach Einhorn's house at the season's end. Kenneth Waldemar and Wayne Boulton are co-captains, and Lee Hall and Herb Weinman are co-managers.

Anticipation filled the heart of each VARSITY BASEBALL player during the tense moments towards the end of a game. The spectators sat ramrod straight in their seats. The opposing batter was hot and over-anxious, prepared either to bathe in glory or to squirm in the dust as it was now the ninth inning with two out and he was at the plate with two strikes on him. STR-R-R-I-K-E THREE! Ardsley wins one to nothing! The crowd has now begun to swarm around the jubilant coach of the Varsity team, Mr. M. Jackman.

Proof of the ability of the CHEERLEADERS is on display in the trophy case; it is an award won for novel cheers, coordination, clear voices, and in general, characteristics ot an A-1 squad. The captain is Nancy Noschese and co-captain is Barbara Gardiner. Mrs. Le Count is adviser.

CHEERLEADERS—S. Sage, R. Kerr, N. Noschese, G. Fraguela, S. Ward.

This year we were proud to be able to say, "This was our biggest season." A total of eight games, a record-breaking number, was played against four of our rival schools. Nine new players had the honor of being chosen for the JUNIOR VARSITY BASEBALL team. With the aid of Mr. Hesse and the coaching of Mr. Felter, all the players gained valuable techniques.

As is customary, the BIOLOGY CAMP was again held at Croton Point this year. Because of the large biology enrollment, it was divided into two sections of two-and-a-half days each. Although students had their customary good time, the teachers felt that time pressed unusually to accomplish all of the biology desirable. Mr. Roth and Mr. Horend, Building Principal, conducted the classes with Mrs. Horend as camp mother, in charge of housekeeping and commissary.

The health class also enjoyed a three-day camp in the spring. This year's freshmen are eagerly looking forward to a camp experience next fall. As well as the desire for a fresh-air, right-on-the-spot education, there is always the hope that the weather might make possible an exhilarating dip in either the Croton or the Hudson River. There are also the evenings which are packed with planned or student do-it-yourself activities, which always add to the overall enjoyment of these excursions.

OUTDOOR EDUCATION is an adventure approach to learning and to the practice of good citizenship traits. It has been developed in Ardsley under the leadership of District Principal Arthur W. Silliman, High School Principal Mr. Horend, Dept. Head Mr. Thomas, and interested faculty members to a position of leadership in New York State's educational advancement.

Youth craves adventure, new places, new meanings, new friendships, new opportunities. Undirected, this drive can easily lead away from school and even to acts of delinquency. The adventure approach to learning through Outdoor Education projects can channel this tremendous drive into powerful motivation for better citizenship, not only in more efficient subject matter learning, but in the more important fields of group living, co-operation, conservation, patriotism, reverence, individual responsibility and strength of character.

"Pupils learn by reacting, not by being passive targets for printed or spoken words," finds Professor Donald H. Ross in summarizing recent educational research.

Outdoor Education projects provide an adventure environment stimulating to young people and confirm the conclusion of Dr. L. B. Sharp of Life Camps that the more direct the instruction, the easier the learning, the longer remembered and the more apt to lead on to further investigation, making school books more meaningful.

The Ardsley program of Outdoor Education includes such a variety of experiences as extended field trips to Albany, the White Mountains, Valley Forge, and Washington, D. C.

A week of school camping for Grade 8 is held at Croton Point using the facilities of county-owned Camp Senasqua. Here they visit the Treaty Oak where the land was purchased from the Indians, the site of an old brick yard and early buildings reminiscent of the plantation system of the South. They study tides, stars, and trees, and take their share of cooking, clean-up, and other responsibilities.

The high school department sponsors specialized camps for science and for public health at tenth grade level.

...in outdoor education activities

Two clubs are associated with the Outdoor Education program. THE MOUNTAINTOP CLUB consists of grade pupils, who have gone on three or more field trips into or towards the mountains. Membership is open to any interested pupil in the upper grades and usually a whole class or a half class will go at a time.

THE OUTDOOR CLUB is a smaller group of high school boys interested in rugged camping. They select their own membership and plan their expeditions depending on advice from members of the faculty interested in camping. They enjoy breaking the ice in the water bucket on a cold morning in the Blue Ridge or building an igloo to supplement their camp site in the Catskills.

At long last

Mr. Everett E. Einhorn, Teacher—"Always busy" seems to be the motto of GRADE 8E. In shop the boys made bead frames which have aided them in math. For art we exhibited projects on the walls. We put on an assembly television program skit in March. The year was climaxed with the wonderful eighth grade Prom. Our officers are Pres. C. Smith, Vice-Pres. B. Guck, Corres. Sec. V. Thompson, Rec. Sec. J. Stagliano, Treas. J. Speicher, and Reporter N. Lapitino. Class mothers are Mrs. M. Ullman and Mrs. H. Hausman.

the age has come...

Mr. Charles Roth, Teacher—In GRADE 8R we set up our class as a science room in which constellations were displayed. With the aid of our science club pets, we soon had a regular menagerie composed of hamsters, turtles, alligators, tropical fish, and an opossum. In the spring along with the other eighth grades, we had a very successful conservation project. Our class officers are Pres. William Duke, Vice-Pres. Connie Coggins, Sec. Edmund Moore, and Treas. ...when the world

Mr. Harlan A. Thomas, Teacher—As a high spot on our program, GRADE 8T made our yearly trip to Croton Point to learn history and science. In December we had a party and dance at Ardsley High School. We made a pilgrimage to Valley Forge early in May. This historic shrine helped us to understand better the struggle our early country endured. We are proud to be a part of the largest eighth grade graduating class in the history of Ardsley. Our officers are Pres. Dorothy Kight, Vice-Pres. Guy Lundberg, Sec. Robin Shore, and Treas. and all its challenges...

Mr. Thomas T. Figlia, Teacher—Besides enjoying several social events during the year, GRADE 7F made excursions to Mt. Riga and Valley Forge in October and to Albany in February. These trips were valuable in our study of New York State history and geography. Also we looked into the procedures of county and village administrations so that we will be well experienced for our Student Government Day when we are in the upper grades. Our classes were held in the new wing of the Methodist church. Our class officers change every month. Class mothers are Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Silverman.

Mr. Robert L. Hesse, Teacher—In October GRADE 7H took a trip to Museum Village, where old shops were displayed in miniature. We are becoming...

Mrs. Barbara J. Junge, Teacher—During the past year, GRADE 7J focused its attention on current events. On our five bulletin boards, we tacked pictures, cartoons, and articles having to do with subjects such as sports, segregation, and the Suez Canal. We kept a chart which recorded our score for good citizenship. The reward for a high score was a class party. Our officers changed, so that more people would have a chance to be executives. Our class mothers are Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Reilly.

...separate individuals,

Miss Margaret Wesp, Teacher—Last fall GRADE 7W visited Mt. Riga in Connecticut and later on the capitol at Albany, covered in our social studies book. Our Teen Age Book Club, the "Reader's Digest," and extensive reading of narrative poetry further enriched our literary knowledge. To become better acquainted with students from another area, we exchanged letters with pen pals in the West. Our officers are Pres. Meredith Whaley, Vice-Pres. Cornelius O'Leary, and Sec.-Treas. Joan Walther. Class mothers are Mrs. Donald Johnson and Mrs. Digby Whitman.

Mrs. Esther Allison, Teacher—GRADE 6A has enjoyed participating in the sixth grade chorus. In art class for the first time we were allowed to use the high school art room. Another project which we shared in was a terrarium. We put a caterpillar in it and watched it build a cocoon. Our class officers are Pres. Philip Guck, Vice-Pres. Michael Creagan, Treas. Philip Guckenbiehl, and Sec. Mary Chris Bailey. Our class mothers are Mrs. A. Kalmykow and Mrs. R. Denike.

Mrs. Ruth Duke, Teacher—In GRADE 6D our project on the Near East inspired our paintings. We also made an extensive study of Europe and various parts of the world. Under Miss Haymond's direction we put on a very successful operetta this spring. Mr. Chestnut also aided us toward better self-expression by starting an art club. Our class officers are Pres. Diana Nardecchia, Vice-Pres. Gerald Green, Sec. Arlene Ardanowski, and Treas. George Istvan. The class mothers are Mrs. G. M. Green and Mrs. W. Decker.

Mrs. Alice C. Frischmann, Teacher—Every morning we in GRADE 6F saluted the flag and said a silent prayer before class started. Letters were exchanged with Paulette Agnano, a former sixth grader now in Egypt. A trip to Museum Village was one of our rewards for co-operation in holding our classes in the Methodist Church. The many parties given by the class mothers, Mrs. M. Graham and Mrs. G. Esposito, helped round out a wonderful year.
